Cookies and Tracking Technologies on the Lisbon Council Website

We do not use any kind of commercial cookies or tracking technologies. The list of cookies currently used is as follows (NB: the list is subject to change):

PHPSESSID

Description : Cookie generated by applications based on the PHP language. This is a general purpose identifier used to maintain user session variables. It is normally a random generated number.

cb-enabled

Description : This cookie is associated with a free script which shows a cookie alert notice on a website. It is used to record when the user has dismissed the notice to prevent it re-appearing on return visits.

__utma

Description : Used to distinguish users and sessions. The cookie is created when the javascript library executes and no existing __utma cookies exists. The cookie is updated every time data is sent to Google Analytics.

__utmb

Description : Used to determine new sessions/visits. The cookie is created when the javascript library executes and no existing __utmb cookies exists. The cookie is updated every time data is sent to Google Analytics.

__utmc

Description : Not used in ga.js. Set for interoperability with urchin.js. Historically, this cookie operated in conjunction with the __utmb cookie to determine whether the user was in a new session/visit.

__utmt

Description : Used to throttle request rate.

__utmz

Description : Stores the traffic source or campaign that explains how the user reached your site. The cookie is created when the javascript library executes and is updated every time data is sent to Google Analytics.

Your Cookie Choices

If you do not want us to collect this information, you can set your browser settings accordingly. However, we want to remind all users that, if you do not want to use cookies, we cannot guarantee that the website will work properly.
