

The Internet's Contribution to the European Economy

Carlo D'Asaro Biondo

The Internet is one of the few sectors of the economy that is strong and growing

SMEs use internet technologies to start, grow, be more productive and compete globally

Google for Entrepreneurs

Google for Entrepreneurs

Home Programs Events Google Tools Online Learning

You have an idea. Make it happen.

Discover local programs and online resources to launch and scale your business.

Stay updated with Google+

What a great #GFEWeek it's been. Let's wrap things up with +Google Ventures Managing Director, +Bill...
10/5/13 1:44 AM

Check out the newest episode in our "Tools for Entrepreneurs" series. This week's video is a

Participate in a local event

Find resources to grow

The Internet benefits a wide variety of industries and sectors across the economy

Internet-driven growth agenda for Europe

- Complete the Digital Single Market
- Foster digital entrepreneurship: remove barriers to starting and closing business, better access to finance and mentorship
- Promote digital skills and Internet-driven education
- Allow data-driven innovation to flourish in private and public sector

Challenge: We must preserve the qualities of the internet that make it a source of innovation

Thank you!